ENROLLMENT REACHES ALL-TIME HIGH

Students Preparing For First Semester

The Rev. Walter Pax, C.P.P.S., Ph.D., director of Student Orientation, helps some new men register for their first year at St. Joe.

With the coming of the fall term, many new faces got their first glance at St. Joseph's last Wednesday. Once again the grounds were flooded with young men who are embarking upon a new road in life.

Under the direction of the Rev. Walter Pax, C.P.P.S., the freshies were ushered through their first days. Registration, placement tests, psychological exams, and general assembly were a few of the items on the program for the newcomers.

The football players had their first test in a scrimmage against the varsity on Saturday. Then the return of the upper classmen provided the initiation of many new friendships.

Sunday morning at eight-thirty the Academic procession and Solemn High Mass officially opened the first semester for both the old and new members of the school.

The familiar sound of the class bell on Monday morning brought back old memories for many, and something new for the new members of the Collegeville organization.

Sultans of Jive Ready To Start Swinging Out

Old hands and anxious aspirants gathered in the band room Monday night to try out for a place with the student swing band, the Sultans of Jive.

It is probable that the first practice session of the year will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30. The musicians plan to whip the band into shape as soon as possible.

Fr. Dirksen Will Lead Day of Recollection

The V. Rev. Aloys Dirksen, C.P.P.S., president of the college, will conduct a day of recollection for the CYO of the Calumet area, Sunday, September 21. St. Joseph's church in East Chicago will be the setting for the spiritual activity that day.

CONDOLENCE

In the name of the professors and students of St. Joseph's, STUFF extends sympathy to Nick Scollard, college junior, upon the death of his mother.

Seven New Professors Put Total Above Fifty

With the addition of seven new professors, the faculty of St. Joseph's has reached a new high of fifty-one. The new priests are the Reverends Rupert Landoll, Cyril Knue, Cletus Dirksen, Raphael Gross, Clarence Schuerman, Robert Koch, and Bernard Scharf.

Father Landoll, who will teach Math, was the former pastor of St. Mark's parish in Cincinnati, Ohio. In the chemistry department will be Father Knue, formerly Procurator at St. Charles Seminary in Cincinatti, Ohio. The brother of the president, Father Cletus Dirksen, will be active in the Social Science department. Father Gross recently received his Masters Degree in English, and Father Schuerman of late completed his course in library work, both at the U. of Michigan. The choir work will be in charge of Father Koch who was the former pastor at Wapakoneta, Ohio. Father Scharf, the brother of assistant coach Dick Scharf, is prefect of the high school as well as a history professor. Fathers Landoll, Knue, Koch, and Scharf were formerly associated with the St. Joe faculty.

Several new courses have been added: Continuation of Science survey, Physical-chemistry, Advanced Business Law, Senior Survey of English Literature, and Advanced Freshman French. A complete course in Journalism will be taught which will lead to a Bachelor of Arts Degree.

Raleigh Club Meets To Plan Initiation

All old members of the Raleigh Club gathered in the club rooms last night at 7:30 to make plans for the reception and invitation of new members.

The club, ready to spend its first full year in the new rooms, promises an interesting series of social events and activities. Old members will recall the club outing last year, and more of that kind of entertainment is promised.

Membership Cards Ready

New membership cards for '41-'42 will be available Thursday for both old members and the rookies. All

Senior Class Names Ralph Parker Prexy In Election Monday

Members of the senior class met Monday afternoon and in a short meeting proceeded to elect officers for the coming year. Ralph Parker, of Lincoln, Ill., was elected president.

Other officers are: Steve Theodosis, Joliet, Ill., vice-president; Frank Benchik, East Chicago, Ind., secretary; John Singletary, Joliet, Ill., treasurer.

John Bivenour, of Canton, Ohio, and Jim Ikovic, of Gary, Ind., will be senior representatives to the Student Council. The Rev. Cletus Kern, C.P.P.S., will act as moderator for the class.

The senior class is already making plans for a banner year. Judging from their early election, senior activities will be off to a quick beginning.

Increase Is Noticed Despite Draft Law

Whiting C.Y.O. Will Give Program September 23

CY.O. actors from St. John's parish, Whiting, Indiana, under the direction of the Rev. John Lefko, will present a one-act play and other short skits in the College Theatre Tuesday evening, September 23.

This program will mark the opening of the dramatic season at St. Joseph's. The Columbian Literary Society is already making plans for producing a play some time next month, but nothing definite has been decided.

All students are invited to attend the CY.O. program. Exact time for the entertainment will be posted soon on the bulletin boards.

As other institutions of learning throughout the country bemoan the fact that total enrollment figures have dropped to an amazingly low level, St. Joe's now boasts of a student body larger than that of any previous year.

Conditions brought about by the National Defense Program have been blamed for the alarmingly few students attending institutions of higher learning. The draft, on one hand, has been responsible for many of the upper-classmen not returning. On the other hand, promise of high wages in defense work induced many to abandon education.

St. Joe did lose a number of upper classmen but made up for the loss in freshman representation. The total enrollment in the college as tabulated at present is 364. Of this number 39 are religious students. In the high school department 102 boys are enrolled. This number includes the 26 senior religious.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kanney (he's fireman at the powerhouse) celebrated their Silver Wedding anniversary Sunday, September 14. They were married twenty-five years on September 12. STUFF joins their many friends to extend congratulations.

Sophomores Elect

Election of officers at the first meeting of the sophomore class held the spotlight as plans for the initiation of freshmen were discussed in a rather unconventional manner.

Honor accompanying the presidency was bestowed upon Norbert Walsh, a popular athlete from Louisville, Ky.

Housemen for the coming school year are Neal Mosser and Stan (Curly) Wisniewski. Officers are: Charles Hankish, president; Frank Benchik, secretary; Ed Reseter, sergeant-at-arms; Maurie Guttself, sergeant-at-arms. Bob Cashman, vice-president, did not return. His post will be filled soon by election.

Father Kroeckel, club moderator, announced that new wall lights will soon be installed. These lights are the final part of the improvement program launched last year.

For the benefit of prospective members, the Raleigh club rooms are located on the first floor and in the basement of Science Hall, northwest corner.

PROSPECTUS

With this week St. Joseph's college begins its fifty-first scholastic year. The enrollment for the present semester compares favorably with the enrollment of the past year despite these troubled times and the fact that many prospective students may have been led away from the idea of education by the promise of a fat check every Friday for the duration of an indefinite emergency.

Freshmen, after their half-week's orientation program, are rapidly growing accustomed to the college and campus life. For them, these next several weeks will be full. Initiations and inductions into the various clubs and organizations will occupy a large part of the newcomer's time out of class work. To the freshmen we might offer this word of advice: Hard work and straight-shooting are the two greatest assets a college man can have. Again we might add that initiation isn't really the terrible thing some would have you believe. Actually, initiation programs are a good test of your metal and the best possible way to meet both fellow freshmen and upperclassmen.

Getting an early and successful start is as true as the old adage that first impressions are the lasting impressions. So then we know that the whole student body is preparing to get off to an early beginning in all campus business, social and otherwise.

Those men who are elected to posts in the Student Council should be resolved that the Council will be more active this year than at any previous time. Last year, the Council joined the National Federation of Catholic College Students. The NFCCS is a comparatively new organization; it is seeking leaders. Are there any leaders here?

As each new edition of STUFF comes rolling off the press, the editors are filled with a desire to encourage student expression in the form of signed letters published on the editorial page.

It is our opinion that worth-while ideas should be given every possible consideration. Everyone will realize, of course, that there is no need or room for "griping" or for letters from cranks. We ask only for constructive criticism and constructive ideas. Anyone can tear down; few know how to build.

Time did not permit the establishment of a letters column in this first edition. But STUFF solicits student opinion in the hope that these letters might fill a permanent place in the editorial columns.

Joe Rookie Writes Home About College Life

Dear Folks,

My first day at St. Joe was swell . . . almost. The upperclassmen are great fellows . . . only this morning a senior named Ed Fleming gave me a bargain in some elevator tickets for Drexel hall so that I wouldn't have to walk up to the third floor with his three trunks. On the way up I dropped one of his bags who said "ouch." After that I assured him that I could handle them but he said that wouldn't be necessary because they already had handles.

This afternoon I told Curlie that I was going to take a course in flying so he let me in on a swell game that goes with it, called "Air Raid." Gosh, was it fun? My arm will be out of the sling tomorrow. Curlie is a swell guy, tho, because he said he would look after me and get me a girl up town. He did! In fact he fixed it up so that I could propose to her . . . Gee, college is swell.

A group of Juniors took me down to the station to meet the Monon. I asked them who the Monon was and they said that any fool ought to know that; so I said that I knew. Three trains came in but no one got off . . . so I guessed that the Monon came in on a later train.

I must be doing pretty well because they have discovered some of my hidden talents already. This afternoon I was asked to sing before a special committee of distinctive seniors . . . They said that I would go far . . . in fact they said they would help me by sponsoring me and helping me to become president of my class . . . just think of it—Rookie President!

One of the kind sophomores told me last evening that they are going to let me gather eggs tomorrow. He seemed very mysterious about the whole affair. But he did say that all one has to do is stand beneath the fire escape at Gasper Hall. I wonder what they would do if I dropped one? Charley Reidel came in the other night with a whole bag full of peanuts. He must be going to throw a party for the Freshmen.

This all came about because I was smarter than the other Freshmen when I started passing out cigarettes to the upperclassmen. I also took three seniors to the show when they told me that they would sell me some text books cheap. They added that the books were no longer in use but were swell reference books and would add ten points to my grades. Yeh, folks, it's really great here at St. Joe.

Rookie Joe

Rule Changes Occupy Students' Fancies

By Jack Ford

At all times does this column conduct an unofficial poll. This week, as freshmen and upper classmen return to the college to have the rules and regulations imposed upon them after a summer's freedom, it especially takes on an air of fancy.

STUFF went to the students and asked what they felt could be done to improve the regulations of the College. In short, we asked what changes they would consider most salient in making life at the College not better but more comfortable. The answers surely were not complaints but simply desires springing from human nature.

Jack Welsch, a sophomore from Youngstown, Ohio, had this to say: "I believe that students should be able to smoke any place on the campus with the exception of the buildings. Making rules concerning the ground boundaries is something I cannot understand."

Al Gohman from Louisville, Ky., another sophomore, felt that "the lights should be left on until a more reasonable time." "I think," he said, "that eleven o'clock would be a better time. Students could still get enough sleep, and that extra hour could be used for study."

"Freshmen should be allowed town permission more than once a week," bewailed Bill Charlebois, himself a freshman from Youngstown. And this opinion, of course, was shared by well over a hundred other gentlemen.

Another seemingly serious desire came from Bob Shields, Chicago, Ill., sophomore. "I wish," said Bob, "that the 'double cut' before and after Thanksgiving and other short recess periods would be reduced to a 'single cut'."

A sophomore, but new to St. Joe, is Joe Jones, from Loogootee, Ind., who thinks, "students should be allowed to play cards in their respective rooms." However, he did not approve of gambling; he wanted shall we say, a friendly game.

All in all, it did seem that most of the boys were satisfied with general conditions, even though generally speaking each had an improvement or two that he could make.

NOTICE

Orientation students are instructed to watch the various bulletin boards for changes in section and time of class.

Campus Capers

Another year, and around and around we go, and where we stop only the faculty adviser knows . . . but . . . we will oblige and attempt to put in this 'column' just what you don't want . . . But we have already seen . . .

Bernie Hoffman denying all rumors that he has any added boy time.

Everyone back and talking about how hard a job he had, but the best happened to Moon Mullins . . . Then Joe Blackwell didn't do bad in the way of jobs . . . just how many were there? Deacon Taylor glad to get back to Rensy and its nearness to a village called Earl Park, but "He won't talk about that" . . . And still Lincoln and Clarence stroll hand in hand and laugh at each other's quips.

What a combination for one dorm in Sunagel, Resetar, Gilpin, and Scollard . . . Oh Yes! and have Frank Benchik tell you about the fatal fall he just about took this summer . . . and it wasn't off a ladder either.

That finishes that and in parting just a note to the frosh in that it doesn't pay to 'stoop to conquer'; in fact, it doesn't pay to stoop during initiation . . . Till next time and more corn, in parting we say use Vitalis.

Pumas Battle Butler Bulldogs Friday

PUMA PRINTS

By Donald Casey

Turnabout! That's what twenty-one men on the tentative 1941 Puma grid roster had to do in answer to Uncle Sammy's call for help in National Defense. Then Joe Dienhart's hopes of coming out on top of a nine-game schedule shifted from a pedestal supported by a flashy array of experienced upperclassmen to a shaky market stocked with plenty of inexperienced but capable sophomores.

Nine lettermen survived to return from last year's crop and will carry the brunt of regular duties. Nick Scollard, All-State and All-Conference end from Indianapolis; Pete Varini, All-Conference fullback, who placed second in the state race for high scoring honors with 54 points last season; Bill Smith, husky guard from Louisville; Wally Lenczyk, center from Chicago; Don Clark of Kankakee and Stan Lapsys from Chicago, quarterbacks; Steve Theodosis, newly elected captain of the squad, and Stan Wisniewski of Chicago, both halfbacks, are the monogram owners who reported for practice.

The backfield suffered the severest loss to the army camps. Bob Kanne, Ronnie Golay, Harold Duplain, Dick Nee, Ed Schmidt, and Ed Furmanek, all experienced and capable backs, comprise the yard gainers who adopted army uniforms this summer. Joe Keane, who was elected captain during the spring session, was inducted into service in early July.

To use Joe Dienhart's own words: "We have no alibis about the army breaking up our ball club. Serving the country first is most important in times like these. If we can get by without many injuries that are bound to crop up from time to time, the squad will prove a real battle-tank against the opposition."

Owen Thuerk and Claude Hisey of the Class of '41 have turned to pro-football this season. Both have contracts with the Detroit Lions and have been working with the money team since the early part of August. Thuerk was St. Joe's All-American All-Star candidate.

It is customary at this time to greet the Freshmen with some sort of flowery salutation and word of advice. Flowery words don't belong on this page, but a bit of the other won't hurt. You came to St. Joe for an education, guys, but don't let the big words and book bugs get the best of you. Get out and play ball. Form teams now and get ready for an extensive intramural program. Keep on the go and get in on all the activities that appeal to you. Be active and grasp the right spirit, and your stay here will be a profitable one.

Football Team Picks Theodosis To Guide Destinies This Year

Vice-president of the senior class, editor of Measure, President of the Albertus Magnus Science Society, member of the Monogram Club for three years, winner of the Hanley Science Award in 1940, geology lab assistant for three years, active member of the Raleigh club since his entrance at St. Joseph's, and now chosen leader of the Puma football team for the coming season. These are only a few of the many major accomplishments of a natural born leader, football captain Steve Theodosis.

"I can't say how happy I am to be chosen captain of the team but I'm grateful for the honor. The boys have real fighting spirit this year. Everybody is training hard and despite our losses we'll be a tough ball club." That is what Steve had to say about the team.

Concerning the heavy nine-game schedule, Steve says: "The schedule indicates the rapid strides St. Joe is taking forward. Looking back at the schedules since I was a Freshman, we see that not only better and tougher games have been matched but additional games have been added."

Steve is a product of Joliet, Illinois. He played football at Joliet Catholic High for two years before coming to St. Joe.

Coach Joe Dienhart is confident that Steve is the right man to lead the Pumas. "Steve plays ball for keeps. I believe the boys have a real leader in him because he keeps that fighting spirit alive until the final minute of the ball game."

Urban (Nig) Pfeffer, '39-'41, former third baseman on the Puma diamond nine, who was signed by the New York Yankees last spring and farmed out to Akron, was voted the team's most popular player. Nig played at center field with the Mid-Atlantic league pennant winners.

Gridders Develop Big Biceps On Many Summer Positions

Returning to the campus proved to be a vacation for many of the football players. After a summer of hard work, keeping in condition, the boys were glad to don their football togs once again. Because of the National Defense, millions of young men have been called to aid in production, and our own were no exception.

Many Different Jobs

Captain Steve Theodosis was a vital cog in the munitions plant at Joliet, Ill. Steve built his muscles as a hod carrier and steel worker. Some of the campus improvements can be credited to Stan Lapsys who was employed by the school during the recess. Pete Varini split his time between trucking for a coal company and acting as a printer for the American Can Co. in Rock-of-Chicago found an excellent drill dale, Ill. The Berg Automatic Co. press operator in Curley Wisniewski. The stone factory of the Sears-Roebuck Co. gave employment to Don Clark. Such work has really put the backfield men in shape. Center Conny Vanderkolk worked on a section gang for the Wabash R. R. Guards Resetar and Smith polished their muscles by toiling for the Inland Steel Co. of Indiana Harbor, and the Louisville Gas and Electric Co. Augie Sunagel worked for a construction company in Clearing, Ill., while his running mate, Art Gilpin, was a maintenance man for the Studebaker Co. of South Bend, Ind. The Stone Quarry of Rensselaer kept our new flank-man, Yugovich, in top form. Big Nick Scollard claims he kept in condition by loafing, and he's done a pretty good job of it because he is set to retain his All-State laurels of '40.

Varsity Trounces Frosh 36-0 In First Meeting

St. Joseph's varsity trounced the freshmen in a practice game last Saturday afternoon, 36-0.

Pete Varini led the scoring with two touchdowns; Steve Theodosis, Gerald McCarthy, and Stan Lapsys each tallied one.

The Butler varsity were giving their freshmen a 33-7 lacing at the same time.

SJC Out To Avenge Last Year's Defeat In Lamp-Lit Game

St. Joe's Pumas and the Butler Bulldogs will start the ball rolling for the Indiana conference football season when they clash in Butler's big bowl Friday night.

It will be the second meeting between the two schools in as many years and the Dienhartmen will be out to avenge a 27-6 defeat suffered at the hands of the Indianapolis crew last year.

As last year St. Joe will face the Bulldogs sadly lacking in reserve power. At the close of last season it looked like this was to be our year, but Uncle Sam tagged 21 prospects, over half of them lettermen, for the army and defense work.

Coach Joe Dienhart has this to say about the coming season: "Our line is big and aggressive, but our backfield more or less a question mark because it was hit the hardest. We should be able to scrape up one good team that can give any of its opponents a good battle."

The backfield also seems to be Tony Hinkle's chief problem as 8 of Butler's 11 returning lettermen are linemen. St. Joe has only nine lettermen back.

Heres The Lineup

Starting the game for St. Joe will be All-state Nick Scollard at left end, and Lou Yugovich, a newcomer from Kewatin, Minn., at the other wing; two big sophomores, Art Gilpin and Augie Sunagel, will plug the gaps at the tackles; Soph Ed Resetar and the veteran Bill Smith will be the guards; and Connie Vanderkolk, a converted guard will be over the ball; Stan Lapsys will be back at quarter; Curly Wisniewski has moved up to first-string left half; Steve Theodosis, who broke his arm in the Butler game last year, will captain the team from right half spot; and Plungin' Pete Varini, St. Joe's leading scorer last year, will be at fullback.

Probable starting lineup for Butler: Ends, Roberts and Williams; Tackles, Dan Zavalla and Hillring; Guards, Toelle and George Zavalla; Center, Powell; Quarterback, Gilson; Halfbacks, Dimancheff and Stoyko, and fullback, Norris.

Academy Nine Begins Fall Season; 6 Games

Forty rookies reported for tryouts to Coach Dick Scharf last week to vie for positions on the Cubs' fall baseball team. Twenty-five passed the weeding-out process.

Seven veterans of the spring aggregation returned to help out. McElroy will be back of the plate again this season. Gavin and Joe Joseph are the only experienced mound men. Wolford will handle second, Waswanderlich short, and Bob McNamara the hot corner. The infield ought to be pretty secure. Meyers will continue chasing around centerfield while the rookies battle for the right and left field assignments.

Six games have been scheduled:
Sept. 22—Reynolds, H.
Sept. 24—Oxford, T.
Sept. 29—Remington, H.
Oct. 1—Brook, T.
Oct. 4—Reynolds, T.
Oct. 8—Remington, T.

Regional Press Conference In Chicago During October

On Saturday, October 11, over seven hundred faculty advisers and Editors from Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan will attend the regional meeting of the Catholic School Press Association to be held at Providence High School, Chicago, Ill.

Special feature of the meeting which has as its theme, "The Catholic Journalist and the Liturgy," will be the exhibits of Liturgical projects. Many noted and prominent speakers are on the day's program that begins with Mass and ends with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Roundtable conferences will be made exceptionally interesting and practical, for they will be conducted by experienced journalists. Problems pertaining to typography, to layouts, and to photography will be discussed by leaders in the respective fields.

Refugee Student Here

Among all students, the states of Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio echo a popular refrain, but in the ranks of the freshmen, England has its representative. Kenneth Platt calls Stoke-on-Trent his home.

Kenneth arrived in this country one year ago last August. He made his home in Canton, Ohio, and attended St. John's High School last year. At present Ken is taking a Liberal Arts course.

Scharfs Have Baby

St. Joe's assistant coach, Dick Scharf, this summer, became the proud father of a future St. Joe star, Richard Daniel. It will be only a matter of time before that familiar name is again published in the athletic box scores of this college.

Freshmen Tell Story Of Life Ambitions As New Term Opens

Approximately 150 freshmen registered last week for a year at St. Joseph's college. At their respective homes, some of these freshmen considered themselves already "quite the thing." At college, however, they must always be the lowly lads with green skull caps—at least they must for the first few weeks. After that, what?

Here some of the class of '45 tell in their own words, just what they aspire to do:

"If some sophomore doesn't put the finishing touch to me first," says Frank Susoreny, "I would like to get into some phase of radio work." Frank studied last at Central Catholic high school, Hammond, Indiana. Before that, he lived in East Chicago; Greenwich, Conn.; and a year in Czechoslovakia.

James Channel, from Alliance, Ohio, wants to make literature his life work.

"There is," he says, "no living in poetry. Essays, however, can provide a man his livelihood. And thus poetry must remain a hobby while essays become a job."

Incidentally, John has written much poetry, and has had one of his poems published.

Remember Dick Scheiber who was editor of STUFF for so many years? Here's what his brother, Tom, from Tiffin, Ohio, has to say:

"It is my ambition to be a chemical engineer. If, for some reason or other, I should choose not to continue in this field, I would like to take journalism in my junior and senior years. However, that's a long way off, and nobody knows what might happen in the interim."

By Joe Collier and Joe Nolford

Father Bernard Scharf, Coach Dick Scharf's brother, has succeeded Father Pax as prefect. Father Pax continues as principal of the Academy.

Many new faces and many improvements have been added to the school during summer vacation.

The club rooms have felt the artistic touch of the painter's brush. Ed Joseph and Bob Niescie will manage the club rooms for the coming year.

A freshman, when confronted and asked if he desired to be the captain of the swimming team, answered, Yes, Yes! But when he learned the conditions his reply suddenly changed. He spoke so—They can keep their "swimming team." Who wants to get thrown in the lake fourteen times a day just to be captain? Those, friends, are words of wisdom.
